

PERMISSION TO PRINT

Heirs of the Promise — Second Edition

Insight to Incite / JD Hall

Insight to Incite and its author, JD Hall, hereby grant permission to any individual or organization to print physical copies of Heirs of the Promise (Second Edition) for personal use, congregational distribution, small group study, or any other non-commercial purpose, subject to the conditions set forth below.

CONDITIONS OF PERMISSION

1. No Sale. This permission does not extend to the sale of printed copies in any form, whether physical or digital, individually or in bulk, for profit or cost recovery. The work must be distributed at no charge to the recipient.

2. No Alteration. The content of Heirs of the Promise may not be modified, abridged, excerpted into a competing work, reattributed, or altered in any manner. The text must be reproduced in its complete and original form, including all authorship attributions, publication information, and any notices contained in the work.

3. Attribution. All printed copies must clearly identify the work as Heirs of the Promise by JD Hall, published through Insight to Incite. No printed copy may obscure, remove, or replace the authorship or publication information as it appears in the original.

4. No Warranty. This permission is granted as-is. Insight to Incite and JD Hall make no representations regarding the fitness of any printed version for any particular purpose and bear no responsibility for errors introduced in reproduction.

This permission is granted freely and does not require individual application or written request, provided the conditions above are observed. Any use that falls outside the conditions stated here requires separate written authorization from Insight to Incite.
